PRESIDENT IN SHOALS FIGHT SHERIFF IN CLEVELAND TO GET BRYANT SLAYER SUSPECT

OHIO OFFICERS WIRE 'IDENTIFICATION' OF MAN IS MADE BY BOY

Departure of Poole For Cleveland Follows Information

DEPUTY POOLE'S CASE DEVELOPES

Morgan Officer Clings To Belief Ford Coupe Was Real Clue

Sheriff Earnest Poole Monday is hastening as rapidly as a fast moving train can take him toward Cleveland, O., where he expects to get M. R. Seigleman, now held there pending the arrival of requisition papers in connection with the slaying of T. A. Bryant, local merchant, while resisting an attempt at robbery.

The departure of Sheriff Poole for Cleveland, followed receipt by Morgan County authorities of advice by wire from Cleveland officers that the young son of Mr. Bryant, who was a witness to the shooting, had picked the suspect from a crowd of prisoners as the man wanted here.

Requisition papers for the men were issued at Montgomery, but it was found necessary to make a change and the papers were returned to Montgomery for the necessary changes. It is expected they will be re-issued immediately.

Local officers today planned to ask the governor's office to get in touch with Cleveland by long distance telephone and advise the authorities there to hold the man until the arrival of the requisition papers.

The arrest of the Cleveland suspect follows several weeks of intensive work on the part of Deputy Sheriff Ben Poole who clung to the theory that the slaying was done by a man who was alleged to have stolen a Ford coupe in Atlanta, Ga.

Deputy Sheriff Poole worked on the theory for sometime, keeping in touch with the police of Atlanta, Ga., and other cities. The Ford coupe in question was said to have been stolen from an Atlanta drive-it-yourself station.

Deputy Poole wrote many letters and sent a number of telegrams during the long hunt for the man alleged to have taken the car, being in communication from time to time with scores of police chiefs in the larger cities of the east.

Deputy Poole refused to be discouraged by the many failures of his plant, but kept tenaciously on the trail and was rewarded last week with a telegram from Cleveland that a man answering the description of the one he wanted had been placed under arrest there and was being held, pending further advice from the Morgan County authorities.

The Bryant boy was sent to Cleveland in an effort to identify him, while a request was made on Governor Brandon for requisition papers to bring the man here for trial.

It is expected Sheriff Poole will return here within a few days with the prisoner, if the complete identification is established.

Good Program Is Planned Tonight

An exceptional program is planned at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club, scheduled for tonight and meeting simultaneously with every other club in the United States in the observance of "Zero Hour." In addition to the planned radio feature during which time the local club will tune in on the Montreal convention of Kiwanis International, several prominent speakers of the local club will be heard. The meeting is scheduled at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock.

Records Show That State Planned Echols Hill Work

NEW EQUIPMENT IS BOUGHT BY ELLENEN

Over Two Million Will Be Spent During The Summer

(Associated Press) BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 7.—Orders for new equipment, costing $2,450,000 have been placed by the Louisville and Nashville railroad company, announcement said here today.

The new equipment ordered in the order consists of 32 locomotives, ten baggage cars, 15 combination baggage and mail cars and 50 cabooses. The latter will be made in the south Louisville shops of the company and the engines and cars by other concerns.

According to the announcement, 24 heavy Mikado class J-4 freight locomotives have been purchased from the American Locomotive company, eight Mountain type Class 1, one passenger locomotives from the Baldwin Locomotive Works, ten 70 foot straight baggage cars from the Pressed Steel Car company and 15 70-foot combination baggage and mail cars from the American Car and Foundry company.

Delivery of the freight locomotives is to be made in September and the passenger locomotives in October and all of the cars are to be delivered by December 1.

This new order, added to the equipment purchases made during the present year, brings the total to $11,150,000.

Patterson Talks at Florence Today

Continuing his invasion of the Tennessee Valley section and Lauderdale county, A. G. Patterson, candidate for governor, today delivered an address at the Lauderdale County courthouse at one o'clock. He will deliver another address at Florence tonight at eight o'clock. Several of his followers were expected to go from these cities to hear the address. The Morgan candidate is stressing good roads and the means for building these roads.

Responsibility for the repairing or reconstruction of "Echols Hill" lies upon the shoulders of the state highway commission, was the opinion given today following the receipt of copies of motions made and carried by the state highway commission in 1924. Copies of these motions were received today by B. L. Malone who at the time represented the city of Albany, along with Thomas A. Bowles, asking the state highway commission to determine a project at the "Echols Hill" section.

The following copies of motions presented by John A. Rogers, state highway chairman, were sent to Mr. Malone today:

January 5, 1924
Mr. Rogers made a motion which was seconded by Mr. Suttle that the State Highway Engineer take steps to temporarily repair road in Albany, Ala., until better weather in the spring justifies more permanent reconstruction. Motion carried.

Nov. 11, 1924
Mr. Rogers made a motion which was seconded by Mr. Suttle that on the recommendation of the state highway engineer the commission agrees to fix street in Albany for a distance of 815 feet from the corporate limits of the town to the center of 9th street in such manner as to take care of the traffic. On roll call the motion carried unanimously.

B. L. Malone and Thomas A. Bowles had been designated by the City of Albany as representatives to go before the state highway commission and ask for some action on repair of the Bee Line highway link.

It was the opinion expressed here today that the first meeting was held November, 1924, and the date of the second meeting was in January, 1925, rather than 1924. This error, if an error, was believed to be an error made in the copying of the motions, Mr. Malone declaring that he did not believe that the two meetings with the commission were held at dates so far apart.

Colonel McCalla stated in his letter, "I will look the matter up and see what I can learn about how all this work was intended to be done." Regarding the latter expression it is believed that the department is preparing to undertake the work. At least an investigation will be made of the status of the responsibility and what steps are necessary to bring the forces of the department and the city of Albany together in the complete rebuilding of the thoroughfare.

FOUR MEET DEATH AFTER BOOZE SPREE

Tarter Alleged to Have Fired On Others and Then Killed Self

(Associated Press) HOUSTON, Texas, June 7.—Jealousy, fanned by a prolonged drinking spree, is said by police to have been responsible for four deaths early today in a Houston suburban residence, with a fifth fatality expected.

Two white men and a negro woman also were wounded in the shooting.

R. Bob Tarter, Port Arthur, Texas, a steward on the freighter Brush, tied up in the Houston ship channel, is charged by eye witnesses, as the slayer. Tarter's body was found some three hours after he had run amuck in the house in which a party was in progress, a pistol near his body.

In addition to Tarter the dead are: Mrs. Edna Mylam, about 33, at whose home the shooting took place; A. J. Lationalais, 31, Houston; Johnnie Domming, Port Arthur, Texas.

William Sonnier, 35, Port Arthur, is in a hospital in a critical condition and no hope is held for his recovery, hospital attendants said. His jugular vein was pierced by a .32 caliber bullet.

Anderson Beckman, 22, Port Arthur, was shot through the right thigh.

A negro woman, Cora Robinson, of Beaumont, was shot through the leg. Ambulance drivers found her half a mile from the scene of the shooting.

According to Beckman's story to authorities he went to the Mylam home Sunday afternoon to drink some beer. Later, he said, Tarter came in, followed by Domming and Sonnier.

"Tarter left the room," Beckman said, "Edna (Mrs. Mylam) and Donning sat together. When Bob (Tarter) returned to the room, he drew a gun and started shooting at Donning. Donning fell and Tarter shot Edna. She fell and as Sonnier tried to run, he was shot down. Alex Lationalais jumped up and was shot, falling over Sonnier.

"I ran out the back yard and was trying to get my car out of the back yard when Donning ran out that way, calling for his mother.

"I went back after him and was trying to carry him to the car when Tarter came to the back door and started shooting. I got shot in the leg. Then we both fell to the ground."

Police and sheriff's deputies were summoned by neighbors who heard the shooting and upon being told that Tarter did the shooting, search was instituted in the ship channel area. The report and flash of a pistol shot led the officers to a pier where Tarter's body was found, the weapon with which he is alleged to have committed the crime, by his side.

Three young women were arrested and are being held for questioning. A justice of the peace is withholding a verdict pending a more thorough investigation.

Officers searching Tarter's body found the following note:

"It is now three a. m. So goodbye to father, mother, brothers and sisters and also Johnson, Findley, Kelly, Gotomot, Shea, Wilroy, Kertell and Mr. and Mrs. Binsen, and all those who know me to be a man and a square shooter."

"Please send my belongings and remains to Dallas Tarter, Somerset, Ky., postoffice address Naomi, Ky."

Names given in the note were believed to refer to shipmates.

GOVERNMENT ACTS TO SAVE AMERICAN FROM FIRING SQUAD

Ambassador Herrick Is Told To Intercede For Memphis Boy

FRNCH LEGION PREFERS CHARGE

Bennett Doty Alleged To Have Led Mutiny Against Superiors

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Ambassador Herrick, at Paris was instructed by Secretary Kellogg today to intercede with the French government in behalf of Bennett J. Doty, also known as "Gilbert Clare," a private in the French Foreign Legion, who is facing death on charges of attempted desertion.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—American Consul Keeley at Damascus, has been instructed to use his good offices in an endeavor to secure defense counsel for Bennett J. Doty of Memphis, Tenn., charged with desertion from the French Foreign Legion.

A dim ray of hope that he may escape the death penalty is seen by Washington government officials in French military regulations, which require approval by the minister of war before the execution can take place.

Doty, the only American in the French Foreign Legion, in the desperate war which the Druze tribesmen was known to the Legion only as "Gilbert Clare." He was cited for bravery in the battle of Saida.

Doty joined the Legion for adventure and served in Morocco before being sent to Syria.

Recently advised to his father stated young Doty led a little group of ten members of the Legion in a mutiny.

In the world war, Doty was a member of Battery G, 115th field artillery in the brigade of the "Old Hickory" division, over which Brigadier General L. D. Tyson had command.

General Tyson, now United States senator from Tennessee, is moving in the youth's behalf. Other Southern senators joined him.

Lemuel Doty, the boy's father, a lawyer, of Memphis, and Blöxi, Miss., has appealed to the French officials in New Orleans.

DAMASCUS Syria, June 7.—An American, giving his name as "Gilbert Clare" of Memphis, Tenn., a member of the French Foreign Legion, is held in prison here on a charge of desertion and rebellion.

Clare arrived at Damascus last night under a strong military guard. The prisoner belongs to a company of the column of General Andreas, which advanced to Saida last week.

The French military authorities state that Clare engaged in an altercation with his sergeant and then deserted with five of the members of the Legion. Clare and his party were surrounded by French troops and were captured after an exchange of shots in which no one was injured.

An investigation into the case, which still is continuing, was ordered last Friday. Clare will be tried by courtmartial at Damascus as soon as the proper papers have been drawn up, which will be within ten days.

If Clare is sentenced to death, the papers in the case will be sent to Paris for the signature of Minister of War Painleve, without which no courtmartial sentence in the French army can be executed.

In any case the American will not face a firing squad before three weeks or a month, if he should be sentenced to death at all.

Industrial School Will Be Opened For Girls On June 22nd

A summer school for industrial workers at Athens College will be open June 22 to July 6 for girls between 16 and 24, employed in cotton mills and factories. Requirements for entrance consist merely of good moral character, good health and the ability to read and write.

Courses will be given in Sunday school methods, Bible, singing, letter writing, English, American literature history, dramatics, painting and drawing and physical education.

A faculty of ten men and women will be in charge. No charges will be made to students except the cost of lodging and feeding, announced to about $20 for the term. The faculty consists of some of the regular members of the faculty, and in addition several special outsiders who will donate their services.

Miss Ruth Lassiter, secretary of the college says many applications have already come in.

Alabama Senator Declines To Talk of Conference

ACTION SEEN AS REMOTE

Legislation At The Present Session Is Unlikely

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 7.—President Coolidge conferred with Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, concerning the pending legislation for the lease of Muscle Shoals to the Associated Power companies of the South.

Upon leaving the white house, the Alabama senator declined to discuss the conference, other than to say that the president had not disclosed his intentions with respect to the legislation.

Senator Underwood did say, however, that if congress is to get away soon, there would be no possibility of getting action at this session. He added that in this event, he would lay plans to get consideration at the short session, beginning in December.

BLOWS PASSED AT A HOUSE HEARING

Ink Well Is Hurlled and Water Spilled As Officials Clash

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 7.—An exchange of blows, the throwing of an ink well and a glass of water occurred today at the capitol in a fight between Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, on one side, and Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning, of the District of Columbia, and his counsel, Frank Hogan, on the other.

The encounter was staged before the house judiciary committee, where an investigation of Mr. Fenning's administration is underway.

Mr. Hogan was injured slightly above the left temple, but the participants were separated before others were hurt.

Representative Rankin admitted the throwing of the ink well, Hogan the throwing of the glass of water and Fenning said he did all in his power to reach Rankin with his fist, but was unsuccessful.

Rankin said someone had struck him and that he thought it was Fenning.

The fight was precipitated when Rankin became angered over an interruption by Hogan to his line of questioning.

Representative Rankin is acting as committee prosecutor in place of Representative Blanton, democrat, of Texas, who presented the case against Fenning. The inquiry has been directed especially into the treatment of insane war veterans, for whom Fenning was acting as guardian.

At the time of the fight the committee room was packed with spectators, who were thrown into an uproar. The hurling inkwell splattered ink over the witnesses table, the red plush carpet and a number of documents which had been brought out for inspection.

SYNOPSIS

Molly Cochran, wife of the Texas Governor, left home when threatened with exposure of an innocent but suspicious-appearing incident in her childhood. She feared her husband's political career would be imperiled. Now she is in New York, doing secretarial work for Myron Eldredge, the dramatic critic, who is helping her, too, with her dramatic efforts. Eldredge, not knowing her real identity, has been talking about Cochran and has just told her that the Governor is going to marry another woman.

CHAPTER XXIX—Continued

The lady—Molly saw her picture often in the papers—was both a product and leader of Washington circles; daughter of a Senator, youthful widow of a former Cabinet Minister. Rich, beautiful, admired—she had, it seemed, refused more than one brilliant offer. She was a frequent guest at the Cochran home, both in Washington and in the South.

In the press, the tragedy of Cochran's earlier marriage was dwelt on affectingly—for the benefit of a sentimental public, always more curious about a great man's intimate personal life than about his theories touching the advancement of the universe.

Arthur Bancroft's name figured frequently in the city papers, as a prominent club man, politician, financier. From the home sheets, Molly had gathered occasional items about Stephen. "Old Jim" Bancroft's stroke, "so long overdue," proved no boon to his son-in-law. He had tied up his money so hard and fast in trust for Susan that Renfro could not touch a sou of it without her consent. Whether this was the case, or whether

"Stephen, I'm sorry. I'd do anything I could to help you."

—as was intimated in the final grounds for action—drink and a weakness for younger and slenderer ladies had been his twin of fetters; at all events, Mrs. Susan had sloughed him off. The affair had gone pretty hard with him. She had cut him off without a cent.

On the occasion of Molly's second play, Myron Eldredge, who had been across again on special correspondence duty, chanced to be at home on leave. He had been in a training camp abroad, and expected to return soon to the front with a machine-gun battalion. After the performance they slipped into a quiet downtown restaurant for supper. Eldredge saw some people he knew and excused himself to go over and speak to them.

"Shall I bring the entrée now, madame?" Molly started as the waiter spoke just behind her shoulder. "No, not yet," she said, and glanced round the embankment of fountain and ferns which screened their table from the rest of the room. She wondered vaguely what had kept Eldredge so long.

The waiter bowed and withdrew to a small serving table opposite, where he seemed to be doing something at a chafin-dish. Raising her eyes presently to the mirror over the table, she saw that he was watching her intently. She had a brief, smiling impression of dark hair, prematurely white in patches, of a face once handsome but riddled and punctured with hard living—pale, too, with an unwholesome pallor. Then something leaped out at her from the mirror. Ironic, dark eyes held hers in a mocking challenge. While she watched, fascinated, the mockery traveled by slow degrees downward. The mouth drooped a little, also ironically, at the lower left corner. It was Stephen.

Fifty American Couples Seeking Divorces In Mexico Are Told To Go Elsewhere

By International News Service
CULIACAN, Sinaloa, Mexico, June 7.—Fifty American couples seeking divorce in the courts here during the first four months of this year have been told to go elsewhere with their petitions, according to a decision of the Sinaloa supreme tribunal, made public in this city and at Mazatlan.

Learning of the activities of a divorce agency in Culiacan, which had presented a "scandalous" number of petitions in the courts in behalf of Americans non-resident in Sinaloa, the state tribunal issued a circular to all judges, pointing out their incompetence to receive such proceedings. No names were divulged by the courts.

Publication of notices in the press citing non-resident parties mentioned in divorce petitions was pronounced illegal by the higher court, and several petitioners who had received favorable decrees have been informed that their cases were thrown out.

Unless divorce seekers are living in this state and service may be obtained on both husband and wife, district courts are prohibited from receiving petitions, the judicial circular said.

The giant arena in the centre of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition site in Philadelphia was built in approximately 300 working days. It was completed and in use a month before the opening of the big exposition which celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. This photograph, made from the air, shows nearly 3,000 boys on the playing field, massed there for the dedicatory exercises on May 1 which formally opened the structure. In the stands are seated 10,000 persons watching the program. A group of 10,000 persons in a large crowd but they are only a "drop in the bucket" in the big Philadelphia stadium. ## Hartselle News

TWO KINDS WATER FROM SAME WELL

Seldom does it fall to the lot of a farmer to be able to pump two distinct kinds of water from the same well. But this is so in the case of Dr. D. W. Penn, one of the real farmers of the McKendree Chapel neighborhood, eight miles southwest of this place.

Discovering that two inlets of water entered from the bottom, Mr. Penn put in pipe and cemented it so that no other kind of water might enter, and well and pump No. 1 was affording a fine quality of sulphur water.

Pipe and pump were placed in position for the other kind of water, and freestone water was available through pump No. 2.

The well was boxed up, the two pump handles being less than eight inches apart each affording a different kind of water.

Visitors to the well are loath to believe it until they try a drink of each.

ANNUAL SINGING DAY AT MCKENDREE CHAPEL

Perhaps the largest attendance this season for any single singing event, was the large crowd present at McKendree Chapel last Sunday for the annual singing day, held each year on the first Sunday in June.

The crowd was estimated at 1,000 and difficulty was experienced to find parking space.

The church was crowded to capacity and various singing leaders took part in the exercises of the day.

At noon a dinner was spread for the large crowd and a social hour was spent while the refreshments were being disposed of.

This is a community singing event, the organization being effected seven years ago, and is looked forward to from year to year.

Hugo Black of Birmingham, candidate for U. S. Senator, addressed the citizens of Hartselle and community Saturday afternoon at three o'clock near the S. E. Stewart store.

Accompanied by some Hartselle friends, Mr. Black went to Valhermosa Springs where he delivered an address at night.

Several Hartselle people attended the quartet contest held at the Falkville high school auditorium Saturday night. Several quartets from many sections of the country were present and a large attendance heard them.

For the last week or more farmers have been held from the fields on account of continued rains. Cold nights have also prevailed being much against the tender vegetation already very backward. Hoeing continued although the ground was wet.

Saturday night blankets were comfortable and many Hartselle homes built fires on Sunday morning.

John Bradley, a former Hartselle citizen, now of Texas, is spending sometime here with relatives and friends. John was a star second baseman in the by gone days when baseball was in its infancy here, and thrilled many fans in those days with his spectacular work at second.

Dr. R. C. Berry who for the past two years has practiced dentistry at this point, building up a lucrative business, is leaving Hartselle to locate at Bessemer. Dr. Berry and his estimable wife have many friends here who regret to see them leave this little city.

A handsome filling station is being erected by John O. Bursleson just east of the railroad on Main street. The station will be occupied when completed by Ollis Bailey.

DON'T FUSS WITH THE SKIN'S ERUPTIONS

A Serious Case of Blood-Poisoning May Develop From Infection Carried on the Fingers to Some Facial Abrasion.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A FEW days ago I read about a seventeen-year-old boy who died from blood-poisoning. The paper said "a pimple on his face, prematurely or carelessly opened, caused the death."

The wonder to me is that more people are not fatally infected through the picking and pinching of pimples on the face. Of course, many tiny and harmless pimples are aggravated by fussing with them.

The reason why the results are not worse in every case is because virulent germs do not happen to enter the tissues. Even though they do enter, there may be such powers of resistance that no serious symptoms occur.

I came near losing my life a few years ago. While operating on a patient pus from his wound flew in my face. I had just shaven and had cut my lip. It was a tiny place, but big enough to absorb some of the pus germs. In a few days the symptoms of poisoning appeared, the surgeon was called upon, and to my dying day I will carry the scar.

It isn't necessary to have such an experience as mine to get in serious trouble. The point of a pin or needle, your finger nails, anything you may apply to the surface of the skin, may carry the germs which are capable of doing serious harm.

You should treat the skin just as cautiously and considerably as you do a high priced piano. Who would think of scratching the polished surface of a piano with a pin? You should be as careful of your face and body.

Before a pimple is opened, the face and hands should be washed with soap and water until they are clean. The needle should be passed through the blue flame of a match. Then you may venture to open the pimple. Having done so, don't squeeze the tissues as if they were a piece of harness. Very gentle pressure will empty the pus.

You must be careful of your skin. It is not to be opened or broken

DR. COPELAND.

Just for fun. Nature gave you its protective qualities for the very purpose of excluding germs. Don't violate its function by reckless manipulation.

Hot Weather Sees Many In Swimming

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 7.—The hot weather rush upon the swimming pools of Alabama is on.

From the "ole swimmin' hole" where the small boy clamors in the creek in his own "suit" to the city swimming pool where flappers vie in the latest styles, crowds gather and seek refuge from the simmering rays of the June sun.

In the past year by year, the number of pools built have been increased yearly, but even at that swimming fans stream to the places in such numbers that at times a "waiting list" is set up. Managers of the pools this year state that they expect this season to be even greater than before, with patronage on some days so great that the pools will be unable to take care of them.

River parties are proving even more popular than ever, with the Warrior ion near here, draw young couples nearly every weekend. In some instances clubs are purchasing property near the river, building houses thereon and spending most every holiday on these outings.

In nearly every town in Alabama of any size, pools are available for the swimmers. The number of these pools throughout the state has grown in years and in every case seemed profitable as year by year the patronage warrants the openings of the pools the following year on a larger scale.

Outings of every kind seem to increase every year as the people in towns seek the out-of-doors during the hot summer months. Picnics, week-end parties, house parties, camps and other similar outings gain popularity year by year, and to those not possessing an automobile, swimming pools of the town are made available and used in a great measure.

The biggest day in Birmingham from the standpoint of attendance at swimming pools has always been July 4. This year the holiday attendance is expected not to be any exception. Every swimming pool will perhaps be crowded again on this day this year.

EFFICIENT
IGNITION SERVICE

Do not tinker with the ignition system of your car unless you thoroughly understand it. You will save time and money if you come direct to us whenever you find that something has gone wrong. We are auto electricians of many years experience. We can tell what is the trouble at a glance and correct it in a very short time.

GEORGE JACKSON
Automotive Electrician

You hear a lot about Goodyear Tires.

They have a fine reputation all over the world.

Did you ever stop to seriously figure out why they are so well thought of? You can't tell much about tires by merely looking at them. They all look pretty much alike.

But you know, Goodyear tires don't just happen to be good. They are good for very definite reasons. Most of the reasons why Goodyear tires are good are due to patented process—materials and methods not found in any other tires.

The All-Weather Tread, the Goodyear Bead, the remarkable new Cord material—SUPER-TWIST—the group ply construction—these and many other things are the reason why MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND.

And the beauty of it is—you can buy these superb, quality tires for no more, frequently less, than you pay for the general run of tires.

Then, Too

We have the most modern repair shop in Alabama. We are prepared to give you thousands of miles more from those old tires you thought were ready for the junk pile. Bring us your old tires and let us give you a figure on repairing them; if they are not worth repairing, we will tell you so.

TODAY 12 Years Ago

From the Daily of June 7, 1914

June 7 falling on Sunday, there was no issue of that date.

Here's good news—the biggest watermelon crop in years is expected.

A successor to Aubrey Boyles will not be selected until December. In other words the Boyles case will be allowed to simmer for a while.

Wonder if a murderer when placed on Alabama highways, upon the abolition of the convict leasing system, can be termed a highwayman?

People forget easily. Now as New York mopes its collective brow, probably not a score of her inhabitants remember that during the coal strike last winter, the republicans lived up to the promise they made to the country to "Keep Cool With Coolidge."

There was never written, perhaps, a more beautiful song than, "A Perfect Day," but man's work is never done, particularly if he is interested in the welfare of his fellowmen and is striving to gain the best for himself and those about him.

The French debt funding measure has passed the house and now goes to the senate. France is given 62 years in which to pay her debt. A long, long trail, but $30,000,000 which France must pay each year can build a lot of roads in America.

"Well sir!" begins many a voter and perhaps non-voter in waging campaign against all candidates, "If I had my way about it, I would do so-and-so-and-so-and on into the night." America is a free country, free speech and almost free ballot, every fellow has a chance to voice his opinion, but perhaps there would not be so many opinions voiced if every man studied political races and candidates for office before election dates. Perhaps there would be no wails about how all these things should be done if the right man is placed in office to begin with.

The Selma Times-Journal declares that some papers of the state are placing Honorable A. G. Patterson in line for the governorship, but adds that these newspapers need not be so pessimistic over the outlook. "This sad, but true, we can see only Patterson as the next governor, we can see but four years of business management in the executive office, we can see that terrible dread of cutting off a few political salaries which are paid for doing nothing, then, too, those horrible convicts will be placed on the state highways saving the state $1,500,000 for road building and maintenance. Pessimism is the word."

Ain't Nature grand, is the slogan of many an editorial comment this day and time and we do not wish to bore you with further praise of the natural beauty in this but have you been out on the Bee Line highway, from here to Cullman and back? We presume that you have, everybody else in the section was on the Bee Line Sunday, regardless of Echols Hill. Old North Alabama's hills, rising in the distance, cannot but give vent to the thoughts of ambition harbored in the heart of every citizen of this section. Turning faces homeward toward Albany-Decatur, forgetting about Echols Hill for the moment, it is not difficult to visualize the beauty of the North Alabama country stretching away contentedly and magnificently in every direction. The writer is glad that he lives here and glad for the other folks who live here.

THE VOTE OF MILLIONS OF WOMEN CAST FOR PROHIBITION

How comforting it must be for prohibition leaders to know that the vote of the women of the United States is going to be cast, if necessary, for a continuation of prohibition enactment. How comforting such knowledge should be to the homes in the United States to realize that the women of the nation are offering a bulwark of defense against the return of misery, want, ignorance and intolerance. The vote of millions of women in this nation will more than safeguard the prohibition laws, more than take care of the concentrated "wet" vote made up of a handful of people who will not venture to look upon America's bright future, but rather are inclined to look backward for themselves and for the coming generations of Americans.

The move that the women of this nation have made is gratifying to the legions of law enforcers who have tried as yet in vain to place prohibition upon the same footing as other laws in the nation of common use and standing. The indictment against prohibition that it has not been effective is partly true, but there are violators of every law made by man, we are all violators of laws made to us and given in trust to us by Almighty God. The laws of slavery never became effective until forty years after the civil war, almost down to the present time. Men still kill, still steal though laws have been in effect for hundreds of years in this nation and all over the world against such criminal acts, though it is written in the Ten Commandments.

Prohibition will not need champions in the legal halls of the nation so long as the woman's vote is going to be cast in favor of its continuance. It is a Godsend that these women have taken the brunt of the attack from the "wet" minority and are standing for the protection of their homes and their cities, their children and their government.

ANNISTON CURB MARKET RECEIVES SUPPORT OF HOUSEWIVES

Again it's the work of the woman. In law, in government, in raising children and now it's in the success of the curb market at Anniston that the hand of the woman is noticeable. Housewives at Anniston are so well pleased with the curb market that they have asked that another day be added. This is seen in the following editorial opinion from the Anniston Star:

Decision of the Calhoun County Curb Market Association, reached Saturday, to have three Curb Market days each week, instead of two, will be welcome news to Anniston housewives, who already have found two market days a week insufficient to meet their needs.

No better evidence of the success of the Curb Market could be given than the request by Anniston housewives that an additional market day be provided. The three market days each week will enable the buying public to secure vegetables always fresh that will keep until the next market day. Under the two-day-a-week plan, it was difficult to keep a supply of vegetables fresh between market days.

The Anniston Star and the Junior Chamber of Commerce of that city were prime movers in gaining the establishment of the curb market and its consequent advantages to both the buyer and the seller. Now the market has proved so popular in Anniston that a three-day week is contemplated, three days can the greenery of the garden be obtained by the Anniston housewife, three days will the grower of nature's best products come to Anniston's streets, buy in Anniston's stores and establishments.

What's the matter with giving it a show at Albany-Decatur, why not give it a chance, why not get behind the movement and show the growers of this section that Albany-Decatur people appreciate the efforts they make year after year in keeping Morgan county near the top in the agricultural standing?

There is a tremendous advantage to the housewife, the provisioner of the family, offered in these curb markets, it is high time we were getting something done along this line, forgetting all that has been said in the past about co-operation offered the farmers and doing a little something to convince him that we are really looking after his business and best interests.

EDITOR GREER SPEAKS PREMATURELY OF THE GOVERNOR'S RACE

Editor Charles E. Greer of the Sylacauga News seems to have taken offense at the lining up of two candidates in the governor's race by the newspapers of Alabama. He refers to the selection of Andrew G. Patterson and Charles S. McDowell by the greater Alabama papers to the exclusion of other candidates in the race. He seems to think that the great dailies are discounting the value of weekly and smaller daily newspapers in selecting candidates and placing them before the people of the state.

The Daily cannot but believe that Mr. Greer has spoken prematurely upon the subject, he has considered the fairness to all candidates and no doubt is to be commended for the position he has taken, yet he has not considered the political significance apparently and the importance of the selection of candidates to the people of this state.

As the Daily sees the governor's race the selection of Mr. Patterson and the selection of Mr. McDowell is perhaps the best step that has been made by Alabama newspapers since the opening of the present political campaign. The Birmingham Age-Herald and associated newspapers, The Gadsden Times-News, the Andalusia Star and the Albany-Decatur Daily select Mr. Patterson as the champion of the people. Others will enter the campaign later. The Birmingham News, Montgomery Advertiser and Selma Times-Journal select Mr. McDowell, believing him and his ability as other newspapers are believing in Mr. Patterson.

The whole difficulty in getting the people to wake up to the fact that a governor's race is in progress has been the lack of interest the newspapers have shown. The newspapers above mentioned have taken the whip handle and are now calling upon the other newspapers of the state to present the principles and issues in the state to the people of Alabama. It is in fairness to the people that they know what is going on, what the issues are and who is selecting such issues as a basis for candidacy. It is the duty of the smaller daily and the weekly newspaper just as it is the duty of the larger newspaper.

This is no newspaper fight, whoever has spoken of this campaign as a fight between large newspapers cannot but be recognized as mistaken. The papers have selected two candidates, one will win, the other candidates may as well forget that they have such aspirations leading into the executive chair.

The campaign is settled upon the shoulders of Mr. Patterson and Mr. McDowell and it is for the people to select between them, select the issues, select the man and with the aid of the newspapers all over the state there will be a governor sitting in Montgomery with promises he has carried before the people then to be fulfilled. These newspapers are pledging these two candidates to carry what they have said they will carry. The publishers realize that the present is a critical time in the history of the state and they want a man in the governor's chair who will give the order to progress in schools, roads. The Daily believes the man to be Andrew G. Patterson. Certainly his strength in North Alabama and in his home county of Morgan will not warrant that any other candidate in this section should believe himself to have an opportunity at the governor's title. Other newspapers aforementioned are supporting Mr. McDowell, the issues in the race are drawn, Patterson or McDowell will win, they go toward the August primary confident in the vote of the people.

As for the other candidates, it is unfortunate that they have not possessed the quality of leadership and the definite platform that the majority of people and newspapers have desired. Their races have been run well as long as they were in the thick of the fight and now that they are out of the running, it is the duty of every newspaper in Alabama to help in the selection of the next governor, explaining the needs to the people and explaining likewise the qualities of the man whom they feel is best fitted for the position.

That Andrew G. Patterson is the qualified man for the position is seen in his platform, in his public record, in the record he made in his own home town as a level-headed business man, a Christian man, a progressive.

It is not the matter that Mr. Patterson is a home man that brings The Daily to this knowledge, it is the knowledge built up in years of business side by side in the patience of close friends is bound to be tried. Mr. Patterson stood faithful to those trusts his cities placed in him and as he goes confidently toward the polls in August the remainder of the state may rest assured that the people in his home towns and his home county step the same confident stride at his side.

made the difference.

SENATOR BORAH is excited about the grant of 4,000 square miles of Panama's territory to a British syndicate for rubber growing.

It might be a good thing to have the British come over here and show us how to grow rubber on our own continent. We are better at complaining than at growing rubber.

COMMUNISTS with a noisy angry demonstration, disturbed the inauguration of President Moscicki in Poland. Lloyd George has defeated the effort of liberal party stories to kick him out of the party. Those that supported Lloyd George realized that there wouldn't be anything left of the party with Lloyd George out.

YOU remember Carlyle's rage because the old Monk describing King John's visit to the monastery, did not describe the king.

Gustavus Adolphus, Crown Prince of Sweden, among us taking notes, will later be king.

The Crown Prince invited by Dr. Henry Goddard Leach, lunched at the Century club in New York yesterday, and met "the great editors of New York."

He sat at a little table for six. Others at that table in the order of their importance were the Swedish ambassador, Mr. Ochs, of the New York Times, Mr. Reid, who owns the New York Tribune and this writer.

THIS is a close-up, taken at a distance of about two feet:

The Crown Prince is tall, well built and thin. Several "great editors of America" might envy his slender waist. His earnest face looks like the late Fred Mullins, brother of William H. Mullins, of Salem, Ohio. Like Americans, he represents a recent mixture of blood. King Gustavus Adolphus, "Lion of the North" for whom he is named belonged to another line of Swedish kings. The present king and his son are descendants of Jean Baptiste-Jules Bernadotte, whose father was a little French lawyer at Pau, Jean Baptiste, thanks to his reputation gained under Napoleon, was elected king by the Swedish diet, Napoleon consenting.

THE CROWN PRINCE speaks English more like an American than an Englishman, although he does not pronounce the "r" in "sure."

His hair, black and thick, is parted on the left side, his eyes are blue. He has five children, four boys and one girl. The oldest twenty. On his left hand he wears a double gold wedding ring. No other jewelry except a thin gold chain, stretching from the right to the left lower waist coat pockets—watch at one end probably, keys at the other.

The prince wore a short black coat with two buttons and striped trousers that didn't match the coat and vest. Perhaps that is the fashion in Europe, or the Crown Prince may pay less attention to dress than our high grade automobile salesmen.

HE WORE a turn down collar, the sensible thing, with no pressure on the pneumo-gastic nerve.

An inconspicuous little blue tie went with the collar. The sensible young Swedish gentleman evidently has no ambition to live up to the American conception of a Crown Prince.

Being born heir to a throne now is like being born on a tight rope over Niagara Falls. This prince, Gustavus Adolphus is probably as sure of a peaceful life on his throne as any European royalty. From a king of long ago, father of Charles the Twelfth, the people of Sweden got their land, without going through a revolution, like the peasant of France and Russia.

WHEN Charles the Twelfth, of Sweden started for Russia with 12,000 fighting Swedes, he went through Poland and then through Peter the Great's army of 200,000 as a knife goes through cream cheese, and every one of those 12,000 Swedes probably owned a piece of Swedish land. That's why they fought their way there and back.

THE Prince attends to his job, which is the welfare of Sweden.

He thought he hadn't time to accept Mr. Ochs's invitation to see the Times presses, running nearby. This writer suggested, "You ought to see how fast our American presses can eat up paper made in Sweden." That interested him, and he went.

Breaks all Tire Records

The 500 Mile Speed Classic at Indianapolis has always been a Battle of Tires. In 1911, Firestone won with fabric tires at 74.59 miles per hour. In 1920, Firestone won with cord tires at 88.55 miles per hour. In 1925, Firestone won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons at the record breaking average speed of 101.13 miles per hour.

In 1926, Firestone again won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. The ten cars to finish "in the money" were all Firestone-equipped. They went the distance without a single blowout and with but two tire failures—one due to a puncture and the other to a leaky valve.

This performance is even more remarkable when you consider the terrific speeds at which the cars traveled over this fifteen-year-old, rough brick track.

Experienced race drivers will not risk their lives or chances of victory on any other tires. And in the commercial field, large truck, motorbus and taxicab fleet operators, who keep careful records are among the big users of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

The City Transportation Co. of Tacoma, Wash., writes: "One of our 12 buses on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has gone over 40,600 miles and still looks good for many miles of extra service. For all around tire safety and mileage, Firestone cannot be beat."

From Calumet Motor Coach Co., Hammond, Ind., the following: "We operate 40 buses all equipped with Gum-Dipped Tires. The very low cost per mile on which these tires operate is considerably less than that of any other make." Hayes Bus Lines, Columbus, S. C., says: "We operate 19 buses equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. A number of these tires have run over 45,000 miles without ever having been removed from the rim."

The largest taxicab companies in the world standardize on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. W. R. Rothwell, taxicab operator, Detroit, Mich., writes: "Two of my Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have run 76,000 miles."

Hundreds of thousands of car owners voluntarily testify to the safety, comfort and economy of Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. W. H. Peacock, Birmingham, Ala., testifies: "I have had Firestone Balloons for thirteen months and they have delivered in that time 24,469 miles." H. C. Stehle, Minneapolis, Minn., says: "My Firestone Balloons have gone 49,900 miles and are still in good condition."

These records of endurance, speed, safety and mileage could only have been made because of Firestone development of the Gum-Dipping process, which insulates and saturates every fiber of every cord with rubber, reducing friction and heat and building greater strength and endurance in the cords—assuring you at all times—

Williams Music House An Old Institution

Williams Music House, 1818 Third Avenue, is an old and well established music store, started in 1890 by T. Williams, who is still at the head of the business and is keeping pace with the needs and requirements of the growing musical population of Birmingham.

No music house in the South is more complete nor is there a stock more complete than that of the Williams Music House and the care and study of the wants of the people in musical instruments, sheet music, musical accessories, radio sets, Victrola records and what not in the music line have had effect, have brought a wonderful trade to this establishment.

T. Williams is a pioneer resident of Birmingham. He is a pioneer in the musical business. Exclusive distributors in this section for the C. G. Conn band instruments, carrying instruments, and paraphernalia of other well known and renowned manufacturers and dealers, the Williams Music House can claim to be the headquarters for musical folks.

The stock of merchandise carried by the Williams Music House is varied and the institution is prepared to meet the growing demands of the day. Many of the orchestras, bands and other organizations of this section of the country have been equipped through this house.

The store is a revelation, musical

BIRMINGHAM TIRE REBUILDING CO. HAS LARGER QUARTERS

Birmingham Tire Rebuilding Company, located at 112 South Twentieth Street, like its namesake, Birmingham, continues to grow and larger quarters have been found necessary.

The new door store room, 114 South Twentieth Street, has been leased and this gives the concern 4,000 square feet of floor space in which to do business.

The new portion of the establishment will be given over to new stock and completed, rebuilt tires. A complete line of new tires will be carried so that autoist and motor car and truck owners can be accommodated on short notice.

This plant is now able to repair 50 tires a day. It will pay owners of cars, especially firms and companies owning fleets of cars or trucks, to let the Birmingham Tire Rebuilding Company rebuild the worn tires. This company in rebuilding strengthens the tire fabric and composition. This means more miles at less cost. The small cost of a rebuilt tire is quite insignificant compared with its added value and life.

The business of the company has been growing steadily and it has been found necessary to ally Drums, banjos, guitars, mandolins, cellos, ukuleles, violins, double bass, bells, xylophones, marimbas and other musical instruments are to be found in stock in fact, everything in the line. Accessories include strings, reeds, bows, bridges, cases, strings and what not. As stated, it is a complete and complete stock.

From 1890 to 1926 is a long time, but according to T. Williams, pioneer in the musical business, it has given opportunity for close attention to a growing and interesting trade and the making of a friendship that will last forever.

Russell Photo Supply Co. Has Summer Stock

Russell Photo Supply Company, 415 North Twenty-First Street, telephone connection, 4734, is well prepared for the active days which spring up when the photographers, professional and amateurs, start out on their summer activities. The open gives great opportunity for photo taking and scenery and other incidents are presented and it becomes interesting to get out into the woods, up hills and in valleys picture taking.

Russell Photo Supply Company carries a most remarkable stock. Everything that is needed in the taking of pictures, cameras, kodaks and general supplies, this firm has them. The stores look to this distributor for attention for the Eastman kodaks and supplies.

Years of attention and study of the business has brought the Russell Company to a very fine point of efficiency. The needs and wants in photographic lines, at times numerous, are to be supplied. There is nothing too large nor too small in the line that cannot be found in the Russell stock.

Not only in the immediate district but over a greater territory, the efficiency of the Russell Photo Supply Company is known. The catalog gotten out at stated periods by this company is complete, covers every item in an industry that is growing rapidly, the taking of pictures, and While as a pastime many people take a camera and kodak work in the winter, the greater number are to be seen following the work in the summer. It is great to take the kodak, along now and then, the groups of friends, or the individual friend. Then, the Russell Photo Supply Company comes in, first in selling the kodak or camera, and in furnishing films, parts and also finishing the films and plates.

Mail orders are given every attention. There is a very large number of photographers in this territory and the name of Russell Photo Supply Company is widespread.

Framing of pictures and other work, anything connected with picture taking, is done in this establishment.

ECHOLS-BARCLIFT

News of the approaching marriage of Miss Elma Echols to Mr. Willis Hal Barclift is of unusual interest throughout Morgan County, the happy event to culminate in July.

These two popular young people are from two of the oldest families of Hartselle, the bride being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Echols, the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Barclift.

The bride is the grand daughter of the late W. V. Echols a pioneer business man of Hartselle while the groom is the grandson of the late Dr. W. A. Barclift, one of the foremost physicians of this place for a long time.

Both are splendid young people, the bride being a graduate of the M. C. H. S. and later receiving her diploma from Woman's College. The groom is the cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, and is stepping toward the front in business world in rapid strides.

A host of their friends have expressed in advance of the happy event many good wishes for their future, the coming event being looked forward to as one of the chief society events of the summer.

PUPILS IN RECITAL

On Friday afternoon at 3:30, Miss Imogene Winton presented some of her piano pupils in recital. Illness or absence from the city prevented others from taking part. The following program was well rendered.

1. Duet, "Air Louis XIII." Gwendolyn Reams and Marie Bernstein.
2. "Sleigh Bells" (Louise Wright-Dreaming Poppies (Spaulding-Mary Alice Trotman).
3. Maypole Dance (Bugbee) The North Wind Deth Blow (Swift) Master Amos Lovin.
4. Stars A Twinkle (Bugbee) Rob Roy March (Bert Anthony) Gwendolyn Reams.
5. Reading, Miriam Hunter.
6. A Dream Song (R. R. Forman) Opal Caver.
7. Dance of the Sprites (R. L. Morrison) Castagnette (Helen Nicholls) Bessie Boyd Ross.
8. To a Rosebud (Paola Conte) Mary Kate Troup.

During the social hour which followed, additional readings by little Misses Mienhardt and Hunter and a duet by Mary Kate and Frank Troup were enjoyed. Mrs. Winton was assisted by Mesdames Reams, Lovin and Blackwell in serving delicious refreshments. Guests included mothers of the pupils.

Mrs. E. W. McCleskey after a weeks illness is improved.

W. P. Chandler and children, Bill and Emily of Athens, Ala., were in Albany Sunday visiting Mrs. Chandler at the home of J. W. Gibson. Mrs. Chandler is returning to Athens Monday, after a successful operation by Dr. H. D. Greer.

Miss Frances Burt has returned to Florence Normal where she is taking a three months course after spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burt.

Miss Georgia Lee Weaver left Sunday night for Columbus, Ohio.

MRS. SAUNDERS HOSTESS TO CLUB

The last spring meeting of the Silk Stocking club was on Thursday afternoon when Mrs. C. L. Saunders was hostess. Her home on Johnston street was beautifully decorated with roses and sweet peas, an attractive setting for the tables of bridge around which were grouped the members of the club and four additional guests, Miss Mary Hammerly of Tusculum, Miss Babye Bess Bailey, Miss Marjory Beard, and Mrs. E. E. Adams.

Mrs. Frank Lide received the top score club prize and Miss Bailey the guest souvenir.

A tempting solid course was served and as favors on each plate the guests received a bunch of sweet peas Petty.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mainard of Memphis, Tenn., and her mother, Mrs. Maud Bullard of Ennis, Texas are the guests of friends and relatives here.

CLEM-ADAMS

Miss Rebecca Adams and Mr. Lof-ton Clem were quietly married on Sunday June 6th at 10 o'clock in the morning at the home of the Rev. Francis, who officiated at Elkmont, Ala. Only a few close friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony. The bride was becomingly gowned in a gray-canton crepe creation with accessories to match.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Clem were beautifully entertained at an elaborate dinner party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Adams. At the perfectly appointed table twenty friends were seated to enjoy the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem are now the guests of her sister, Mrs. Leslie Burnett in Albany. Later they will be at home in Elkmont. The bride has been the guests many times of relatives in the Twin Cities and has made many friends who wish her every happiness.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON

Mrs. Shelton Maherg of Anniston was the guest of honor at the lovely bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Govan Woodruff whom she is visiting on Saturday morning. The hostess' apartment was a bower of spring flowers on this occasion.

The guests gathered at 11 a. m. and participated in spirited bridge games until one o'clock when a very delectable luncheon was enjoyed. At the game Mrs. O. Kyle was the lucky contestant and received a dainty prize. Mrs. Maherg was presented a souvenir.

Mrs. Woodruff's list follows: Mrs. Shelton Maherg, of Anniston, Mrs. J. Y. Hamill, Mrs. H. H. May, Mrs. J. R. Daniel, Mrs. Early Phinizy, Mrs. O. Kyle, Mrs. Ernest Morrow, and Mrs. Sarah Jeffries. She was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. W. C. Bailey.

SIX HUNDRED CLUB

Mrs. Govan Woodruff will be hostess to the Six Hundred club on Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. at her apartment in the Peoples building.

Miss Dorothy Patterson will leave in about two weeks for a visit to friends in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mrs. Seay Young and daughters, Lucile and Ruby of Athens were the weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. Alice Davis in South Albany.

Friends of Mrs. Alice Davis are glad to know that she is improving after an illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner Davis will leave soon for an extensive trip to Pensacola, Fla., and other points.

Miss Elizabeth Royer has returned from Florence where she accompanied Miss Jessie Lee Noir of Womack Hill, Ala., who entered Florence training course.

Misses Thelma Clem and Bertha Robertson were the guests on Sunday of friends and relatives here en route from Elkmont, to Florence where they are summer school students.

Mrs. Leslie Barnett has returned from Elkmont, Ala., where she has been visiting relatives.

Miss Lougene Clem who is a student of Florence Normal returned there Sunday after spending a week at home.

Miss Edith Mitchell, daughter, of Mrs. W. W. Mitchell of Grand Junction, Tenn., will arrive Tuesday to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Roy Best.

If all the masterpieces in all the museums of the whole world were to be placed together, they couldn't make a picture that would compare to Cupid's masterpiece—the June Bride! On her has expended all his loving care and attention from the time she first opened her lovely, starry eyes, and now as she stands in her filmy veil and shimmering gown, she is indeed a picture that defies all the artists of all times. Shy, bewitching, alluring—she enchants the eyes of all beholders, but particularly him to whom she has given her heart. And love lends her a beauty that will never fade—that will endure through all things and will keep her ever as she is today—the June Bride.

BENEFIT PARTY AT HOTEL LYONS

A brilliant affair of the past week was the bridge and rook given for the benefit of the Memorial Fund of the United Daughters of the Confederacy on Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Lyons under the auspices of Miss Mary Lou Dancy. Miss Dancy was fortunate in having as her assistants, Mrs. R. T. Sheppard, Mrs. C. L. Saunders, and Mrs. Frank P. Lide, all of whom did much towards making it the huge success that it was.

The games were played at twenty-six tables, the four players at each table pivoting, and at each table, Miss Dancy presented the highest scorer a memorial coin. To Mrs. Stanley Wyatt, who had top score among all of the bridge players, she presented a book and Mrs. Roy Odom, for highest rook score, also received a book. During the games little Misses Hazel Hodges, Edith Fussell, Eleanor Brown, and Louise Walker served iced drinks donated by L. R. Nash. The Joe Wheeler Chapter, local U. D. C. unit, is deeply indebted to everyone who assisted, but more especially to Miss Dancy, Mesdames Lide, Sheppard and Saunders, Mr. L. R. Nash and to the Hotel Lyons management, the latter having given the use of the hotel, free of charge.

Those enjoying the affair were, Misses Sarah Blackwell, Virginia Humphrey, Ethel Harrison, Maurine Bobbitt, Mrs. J. M. Hatfield, Mrs. Sheppard, Mrs. J. W. Boggiss, Mrs. O. P. Stinson, Mrs. G. D. Helpful Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and very pretty. There is a young man whom I like very much, and from all appearances he likes me, but he doesn't come to see me, and I can't understand why. Please explain. BLUE-EYED BILLIE.

BLUE-EYED BILLIE: I suggest that you invite this young man to call on you occasionally. It may be that he is too shy to ask permission to do this—until you have indicated your interest in him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

1. Is it proper for four young people to ride on the front seat of a car?

2. What should one say to a young man when he takes one home?

BRIGHT EYES: 1. Well, I can't imagine that four people can be very comfortable in the front seat of a car.

2. Thank him for a pleasant evening, and tell him you hope to see him soon again.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

1. Is it proper when a young man gives you candy to open the box and offer him some?

2. What do you think of a young man parking in front of your house and blowing the horn?

3. Is it proper for you to ask a young man to have supper?

THREE GREEN BABIES: 1. Yes, it is a gracious thing for you to do—and most proper.

2. The gentleman should leave his car and call for you at your home. And you can cure him of the odious habit of "tooting" for you by ignoring this summons. Then he will realize that you wish him to come to your home—and he will act accordingly.

3. Certainly, it is your privilege to invite a friend to stay for dinner or supper.

Mrs. Ponsomby Ky's and son of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., are expected to arrive Sunday to be the guests of Judge and Mrs. O. Kyle.

Miss Mattie Rene Grice of Hartselle was the weekend guest of Miss Clara Berry Hunt.

A. A. Jones left Thursday night for Montreal, Canada, where he will attend the Kiwanis convention.

Mrs. Glenn Shoptaugh of Jeffersonville, Ind., is the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Raney.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Wyker will leave Wednesday for a stay at Magnetic Springs, Ohio.

Voice of People

(On the 'Echols Hill')

New hope sprang up within the hearts of the readers of the Albany-Decatur Daily and the traveling public receiving a radio report of the news item stating that "Mr. B. L. Ma'one would soon be able to make public the wording of the agreement between the city of Albany and the Alabama state highway commission on the maintenance of the 'Echols Hill' part of the state highway."

It is hoped, by all, that a squabble between the city and the commission will not ensue which will postpone this most needed highway repair work until the McDowell-Rogers $75,000,000 state road bonding issue is put over on the taxpayers of the state. It is true that a large sum of the $75,000,000 could be wasted by the present highway gang on this piece of thoroughfare but most of us are at a loss to know just when a majority of Alabama citizens will be weak minded enough to vote such an issue upon themselves. Surely not during this generation of voters and, should they live to be quite old, the repair work will be too long delayed by waiting on the next generation.

The offering of Albany-Decatur to the boards of industry, by the energetics of the Twin Cities, with the bad road condition of the 'Echols Hill' is like the wedding guest offering himself at the "wedding feast" not having on a wedding garment."

Some satisfactory disposition of this traveler's menace should be made at an early date. The Twin Cities collect about 10 to 20 thousand dollars street tax annually and, unless the state highway commission can be required to repair or rebuild this piece of road, it would be no bad idea for one year's street tax collections to be used in disposing of the menace.

Recently it was necessary for a Michiganite to make repairs to one of his car wheels by removing a broken rim, on the 'Echols Hill,' and while perspiring generously in making the repairs he said: "This is the meanest piece of road between Florida and Michigan. I think it is nothing but selfish neglect of any city to tolerate such a menace within the city limits."

This was a terrible echo from the 'Echols Hill,' reaching from one end of the United States to the other.

The Twin Cities should remember that it was unexpected selfishness that sentenced the "rich man" to Hades and let him begging for one drop of water on his tongue. What if the lords of industry should pass up Albany-Decatur on a similar sentence while pointing the finger of scorn at the 'Echols Hill'?

Athens and Hartselle, less wealth reputed than Albany-Decatur, did not squabble with the state highway commission about fixing up a mile of public thoroughfare within their city limits.

The Albany-Decatur Daily and the people have shown progressive desires about this and other road welfare of the county and state but our official forces seem to all be asleep at the switch.

We close hoping that somebody will soon get busy in seeing that the repair work is started.

Yours truly,
JEROME C. SMITH.

Miss Carter, who was called to Nashville by the illness of her mother, has returned here.

H. R. Summer and daughter, Madalyn will motor to Florence on Tuesday to spend the day.

Mrs. Vera Austelle and son, Malcolm, expect to leave in about ten days to spend the remainder of the summer in Montegale, Tenn.

Mrs. Atlee Hoff has returned from a week's visit to Birmingham, where she accompanied her mother, Mrs. B. L. Henkel, who will remain for a short while in St. Vincent's hospital for treatment.

More than 1,000 soldiers are encamped at Camp McClellan where they are undergoing training in the summer camping season, some of them from colleges and universities.

The Montgomery Post No. 2 of the American Legion is on the verge of constructing a new home.

British Debacle In Golf Marks The Fall of Empire on Sport Front

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

International News Service Sports
Editor

NEW YORK—

Jess Sweetser's victory in the British amateur golf championship just about closed the case of America versus Great Britain in the field of sport. The amateur title was the last prize left in England after ten years of international competition, now that that has gone, the English are a nation without a major sport championship, not even their own.

Of course, with great golfers being sent out of this country on an average of every second year, it was inevitable that the British amateur title would fall some time. That it resided the inevitable between Walter J. Travis in 1904 and Jess W. Sweetser in 1926 does not mean that another such famine will precede the next American victory. In fact, once having mastered the trick, it should become successively easier.

This was true, in any case, of the British open, which was won by Jock Hutchison for the first time in 1921. Walter Hagen took it over the following year, finished only a stroke behind the winner, Havers in 1923, and then came back in 1924 to win it again. Jim Barnes followed through to take the cup in 1925.

The British debacle in golf marks the fall of the entire empire on the sporting front. Its boxers, now, are possibly the worst in the world, Jimmy Wilde having been the last good one. Apparently, the day of Jem Driscoll, Owen Moran and Freddie Welsh is gone, never to return. As for heavy-weights, the English breed is absolutely decadent. They once led the world.

So did the English tennis players in the days of the Dohertys. Today, the British do not even make it close, only the French, Australians and Japanese contesting American supremacy.

America holds the international polo cup, and judging from the performances of Milburn, Hitchcock, Webb, Stevenson and Strawbridge and the inept play of the British in the last matches, it will remain here indefinitely.

Sir Thomas Lipton never has been able to lift the international yachting trophy, and, while he may succeed some day, the evidence is all against him.

As for track and field, the British topped everything in the old days and in individual instances, particularly middle distance running, still hold the edge over America. But the latter, figured on team strength, has consistently taken the play away from the British during the last twenty-five years and, barring the unforeseen, always will do so.

How time does fly. It seems but yesterday that we were sternly spoken to by the constable for riding our bicycle after sunset without a light. He threatened to "pull" us if we did it again.

"Engaged to four girls at once? How do you explain such conduct?" "I don't know. Cupid must have shot me with a machine gun."

A super-shiek is a guy who can persuade a chorus girl to ride on the elevated.

"Well, that fixes next week's paper, said the country editor as he changed the date on this week's paper."

Girls are a good deal like soap. If they like you they will clean you when you go out with them.

Etiquette books says that people of good standing wear clothes that are inconspicuous. A girl I know must be awfully well-bred, because I saw her on the street. And her dress was so inconspicuous that it wasn't until I was real close that I could say for sure that she had one on.

Giraffe—the champion rubberneck of the world and the longest thirst on record.

A friend tells a certain business man who has been a summer widower two days and has not had to wash a breakfast dish. He drinks milk out of the bottle, takes the toast off the toaster and butters it from the butter package. Bananas are eaten from the peeling. The butter knife is held under the faucet and breakfast is over. And everybody knows a coffee pot should never be washed.

"I sure spotted that one," he said as he upset the punch on her dress.

NO CHANCE

The ice man has a merry biz. The coal men seems relieved. The ultimate consumer is the one who's always peeved.

The fellow who knows it all would stand a better chance if he would forget part of it.

Two little girls were comparing notes. "We had chicken four times last week," said one. "How extravagant!" said the other. Oh, no," replied the first. "It was the same chicken."

Much of common sense consists of doing nothing when there is a row on.

Mrs. Hobert—How can I make my husband jealous? Mrs. Bagart—Why, you old-fashioned thing, divorce him!

She was as ruffled as a fancy garter."

Gladys—I can't even hear myself talk. You're not missing much.

We have just been wondering if the time will ever come when others will think as much of us as we think of ourselves.

Classes at the University of Alabama are now under way for the summer session. The first term will last through July 13, the second term beginning the following day.

SPORTS

Alabama Elevens Planning For Still Greater Year; Crimson Tide Hard Hit

(Associated Press) BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 7.—Although the sun's rays are beating down at this time in an unmerciful way, thoughts of sportlovers of the state have turned somewhat to the gridiron chances of Alabama teams next fall.

Baseball of course is just in full swing with many months yet ahead, but those lovers of the pigskin pastime breathe a few words now and then about the coming campaign of the fall. The chances of the teams for next fall are discussed quite at length.

These discussions are brought on more by the alumni of the school than any one else, and especially since the high schools at present are graduating among its numbers some of the best prep school athletes in years. Just where these erstwhile high schoolers will seek to establish their college careers forms a part of the line of discussion.

The influx of high schoolers this year, however, will have no direct bearing upon the varsity teams of the colleges of the state, Freshmen being barred from competition so that a definite line may be had from the available material at hand.

Probably the team that is attracting the most attention of any in the state is the one at the University of Alabama, which came into national prominence last New Year's day by its win over the University of Washington in the Tournament of Roses.

The supremacy of Southern football was asserted at this time, and reflected hence and glory to the state of Alabama.

Coach Wallace Wade will be sadly hit this year by the lack of several of his mainstays whose playing days at the University are over. Among these are the well known Pooley Hubert and Johnny Mack Brown as well as Grant Gillis. These three backfield stars have seen their last days in cleats at the University and hence the Alabama coaches will be hard put to fill the departing heroes' places. Several mainstays of the line are also gone and need replacement.

Captain Red Barnes, halfback, is expected to form the nucleus of the 1926 Crimson eleven, with "Red" Brown, expected to fill in at a half-back place, too. The latter has heretofore been used at an end, but will henceforth more than likely fill in at the place where he found his success in high school days.

Gone is the generalship of Pooley Hubert, who for so long has been invaluable to Crimson machines that scribes have proclaimed him "a playing coach." Finding a man to run the team will probably be Wade's main problem.

A host of graduates from the Freshman ranks and a number of reserves who have been schooled long at the University are expected to step up and take the places of the departed. The Alabama coaches are pessimistic about the 1926 chances, but alumni are placing their confidence in the coaches and believing Alabama will have another team worthy to carry the colors.

The team has an unusually hard schedule, meeting the strong Vanderbilt eleven in an early season game, scheduled for October 2.

Auburn backers are looking for the Plainsmen to come back stronger this year than they have in several years past. After one year under Coach Dave Morey, the gridirers at the Village are accustomed to the tactics of the new coach and are expected to settle down in earnest in the future.

The Tigers' win last year over Vanderbilt seemed to strengthen the team morale and carried them through a successful campaign for the remainder of the schedule. With this old time confidence regained, Auburn alumni are expecting their favorites to come back next year with a bang.

Coach Morey will suffer the loss of some of his best men, as Green and others will be gone from the flock, but some new stars developed during the closing games of the 1925 schedule that are expected to blossom out in full bloom this year.

Howard men are looking to the S. I. A. A. championship this year, claiming that they will have a stronger eleven than in 1925 when they lost only three games, each by one point margins, but are faced this year by one of the hardest schedules that could have been mapped out for them.

The game with Auburn at Rickwood here on October 9 will draw statewide attention. Last year the Bulldogs narrowly missed a victory over the Plainsmen, a 7 to 6 count resulting, the closest score the Bulldogs have played the Plainsmen in some time.

But with the return to old time form of the Auburn eleven, the Bulldogs are due for a severe drubbing this year, sport followers say. It will be remembered that in 1919 Howard held Auburn to the closest score up until that time, 19 to 6, and that the following year the Plainsmen came back with a vengeance and ran over Howard 88 to 0. Howard backers base their claims on the fact that this year's team is expected to be stronger, but seem to forget that last year Auburn was in somewhat of a demoralized state. Now that they have regained their old time stringency Howard will have to face a better team on October 9 than they did a year ago.

Howard is clamoring for the S. I. A. A. championship will face a schedule replete with enemies of an equal caliber, also bent on the title. Mercer Oglethorpe, Millsaps, Chattanooga, Birmingham-Southern and others must be vanquished before the Bulldogs can lay claim to any title.

The men of Coach Jenks Gillem were strengthened in 1926 by so splendid material coming up from the ranks of the 1925 Freshmen. Much of this will be in the line and add weight to the heretofore light Crimson.

Billy Bancroft all S. I. A. A. quarter back will return for his second year and with one season's college gridding behind him should covet of last year. Many of his former mates of stellar qualities also come back, among them Capt. Bull Spivey.

Birmingham-Southern, the old local team, and time honored rival the Howard men, is looked for to come back even stronger this year than last. Although they lose several of the best men of 1925, incoming freshmen are expected to reconquer for that. Coach Drew and Cap Curley Black maintain that the Crimson and Black warriors are set for a titanic campaign.

The anthers will likewise have S. I. A. A. championship in view. Hard menu confronts them, but an abundance of material the Dr. men are expecting to make their hum wherever they play next year. Spring Hill, the other college team in the state, likewise is expected to have a strong contender, as in past. The Hillmen have always strong athletic teams, sometimes gaining an upperhand over their state friends.

Summer activities of the grid of the state will include work on part of the gridirers that will train their bodies in condition ready to enter the campaign at starting time. Several of the teams will go training by camps prior to the opening of school.

Names you Should know

YOU like to know names that everybody knows—name of the man who tied lightning to a kite; name of the man who watched a tea kettle and went out and made an engine. Just knowing such names gives you pleasure.

Yet there are names that thousands of people know that can give you much more pleasure in a much more personal way. Names that stand for the best things to eat, to wear, to sleep on, you can buy. Names that if connected with the salad dressing, hat, mattress you select—or any other desirable thing you select—mean it is most desirable. Names written large in advertisements. Advertisements tell why those are wise names for you to know. Why such names greet you in the best groceries, department and hardware stores. Why those names are in the buying vocabulary of thousands—are believed in by thousands—justify belief!

Read the advertisements. Don't ask vaguely in a store for "cold cream," "a skillet," "a vacuum cleaner." Ask for So-and-So's Cold Cream, So-and-So's Skillet, So-and-So's Vacuum Cleaner. Use the names, you have learned through advertisements, that stand for the product that means most to you and most to everybody.
